

“Investment policies are key determinants of investment decisions making in any country or region implying that the investment policies should meet the needs of the investors while addressing the economic and social development needs of the countries,” says Zambia’s ministry of Commerce, Trade and Industry permanent secretary.

The permanent secretary was speaking when he officially opened a workshop on new investment policies and meeting of the COMESA committee of investment experts at the Grand Place hotel in Lusaka, Zambia on 25th March 2013.
